

Psalm 115

"Not unto us, O Lord"

Text by William Whittingham

Harmonised by David Peebles

1. Not un - to us, O Lord, I say, to us give none,
2. Doubt - less our sov - er - eign, God, in hea'vn sit'th on high:
3. A mouth they have speech - less, not mov - ing tongue nor lips:

6

But give all praise of grace and truth un - to thy name a - lone.
And work - eth what him lik - eth best: for all things do can he.
And eyes they have, but see not with, no more then do dead chips.

12

Why shall the Gen - tiles say to us as in des - pite,
But their i - dols and Gods, be - fore whom they do stand.
Ears they have, and hear not, as do the ears of man:

17

Where is their God they call up - on? Where is their hearts' de - sire?
Sil - ver or gold they are at most, the work ev'n of man's hand.
A nose al - so, but to no use: for smell no - thing they can.

Original tenor begins on Bb.
