Psalm 135

4. 7He from the earth the clouds doth bring,
    the lightning and the rain
He maketh eke: and winds to come,
    from where they did remain.
8He smote the firstborn of each thing,
    in Egypt that took rest:
He spared there no living thing,
    the man nor yet the beast.

5. 9O Egypt, he in midst of thee,
    hath made his wonders fall:
On Pharaoh thy cruel king,
    and on his servants all
He sundry people brought to nought,
    destroying them outright:
And many kings he slew also,
    that were of power and might.

6. 10As Sihon, (that sometime was lord)
    and king of the Amorites
And Og, the king of Bashan land,
    with all the Canaanites 11And gave their land to Israel,
    an heritage we see:
To Israel, his chosen folk
    their heritage to be.

7. 12Thy name, O Lord, shall still endure,
    and thy memorial:
Throughout all generations
    that are or ever shall.
13The Lord will surely judge aright,
    and his people all in deed:
And to his servants favour show,
    will he, in time of need.

8. 14The idols of the heathen all
    throughout their coasts and lands:
Of silver and of gold they be,
    the works even of men’s hands.
15For mouths they have, but speak no whit
    and eyes, but may not see:
16So have they ears, that nothing hear,
    and breathless wholly be.

9. 18Wherefore all they are like to them
    that so do set them forth:
And likewise those that trust in them
    or think they be ought worth.
19O all ye house of Israel,
    see that ye praise the Lord:
And ye that be of Aaron’s house,
    Praise him with one accord.

10. 20And ye that be of Levi’s house
    praise ye likewise the Lord:
And all that stand in awe of him,
    praise him with one accord.
21And out of Zion, sound his praise,
    the praise of God the Lord:
Which dwelleth in Jerusalem,
    praise him with one accord.
